

UKTelehealthcare in partnership with the London Fire Brigade is pleased to announce...

Our 2016 London MarketPlace!

Wednesday 6th April : 10am - 3pm

In celebration of London Fire Brigade's 150 years of service to the community, we are proud to be holding our first 2016 London MarketPlace at LFB Headquarters, 169 Union Street, London SE1 0LL.

Our MarketPlaces have been extremely popular events for members and telehealthcare professionals over the last 10 years. This event is our first in London this year, and will be held at the prestigious headquarters of the London Fire Brigade in Union Street, South London.

For anyone involved with Telecare and Telehealth services:

- This is a great opportunity for London and the South East to experience the latest 2016 products from a wide range of suppliers and experts.
- It's totally FREE as part of your UKTHC membership. Arrive from 10am onwards, and take as much time as you like to look around and learn!
- Your chance to appreciate the benefits of friendly technology products and services, so that everyone who needs help to 'Stay Safe and Stay Connected' can access this type of support across London and the South East.

Over 30 organisations will be offering tasters and demonstrations of services and devices to explain how they can help those at risk to live independently in their own home for longer. Get information on the latest range of cutting-edge sensors and equipment, and there will be talks on the variety of local support available with this friendly 'Assistive Technology'.

HOW TO GET TO LFB HEADQUARTERS: Nearest train stations: Waterloo & London Bridge Nearest tube stations: Southwark & Borough.
NB: There is no parking for visitors at the venue.
