New Digital Thanking Wall recognises the unsung heroes in healthcare/NHS during COVID-19 outbreak.

TAP (Thank And Praise), a unique social thanking platform, has launched a free-to-use Digital Thanking Wall to enable the general public to post messages of appreciation for the courageous and selfless people working in healthcare/NHS and education.

Following the outpouring of gratitude across the world, TAP has responded by putting a spotlight on the UK's unsung heroes safeguarding us and our children during these challenging times.

"Our culture often seems driven to highlight what is wrong, instead of giving thanks and praise for the good that can be found in so many, especially those working in healthcare and education", said Sandie Curtis, Founder and CEO of TAP.

"While we see ourselves as simply doing our job, many of my NHS colleagues are under tremendous pressure at the moment so it's great to see how much the public appreciates what we are doing to keep them safe. TAP's Thanking Wall is the perfect place to share their positive messages of support", said Clare Mechen, Nurse Manager at the Adam Practice in Dorset.

TAP's Digital Thanking Wall is easy to use and the messages of thanks are also collated from TAP's social media channels including Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter, and email.

Thankers simply have to share three pieces of information;

1. The organisation being thanked
2. Their message of thanks
3. Their own name, if desired

Their messages are then posted on the TAP Healthcare/NHS and Education Thanking Wall webpages for everyone, especially the key workers to read.

TAP's mission is to make the world a better place by improving the well-being and mental health of all those working in healthcare/NHS and education.
